Joanne Wolf joins Presbyterian Children's Village as Vice President of Programs

(Rosemont, PA): Presbyterian Children's Village is pleased to announce that Joanne Wolf has joined the staff as Vice President for Programs. She is responsible for the administration and supervision of all client services at the Village.

Wolf, a licensed clinical social worker, comes to the Village from Northwestern Human Services of Philadelphia, PA. She has previously worked for Parkside Recovery (Philadelphia, PA), Life Counseling Services (Havertown, PA), Thomas Jefferson University Hospital Family Center (Philadelphia, PA) and as a producer of television commercials and corporate videos (Greater Philadelphia Region). She received her Master of Social work and her Bachelor of Arts (cum laude) in international relations and Latin American studies from the University of Pennsylvania.

Founded as an orphanage in 1877, Presbyterian Children's Village today is a non-profit corporation dedicated to the healing of the spirits of children, families and communities broken by violence, addiction, poverty, mental illness, racism and other serious societal problems. The Village serves more than 6,500 children each year in the greater Philadelphia area.
