Presbyterian Children's Village Receives Sunoco Grant Sunoco Helps Improve Lives in Southwest Philadelphia

(Rosemont, PA) The Presbyterian Children's Village has received a $3,500 grant from Sunoco, Inc. (Philadelphia, PA) for programs at the Preheim Center of Presbyterian Children's Village in Southwest Philadelphia.

Carol Sloan, Community Relations Manager East commented, "Sunoco is proud to assist PCV's family programs that provide vital support to our community."

The Preheim Center provides a wide range of crucial community-based services and prevention programs for at-risk and traumatized children and families. These include foster care, kinship care, adoption, In Home Protective Service (IHPS) programs, mental health services, truancy services, after-school programs, and more. In all, the Village serves about 7,000 children and families each year, encouraging healthy familial ties and strengthening the communities in the Greater Philadelphia region from its two facilities. The Village also provides residential services from its headquarters in Rosemont. More information can be found at www.pcv.org.

Founded as an orphanage in 1877, Presbyterian Children's Village today is a non-profit corporation dedicated to the healing of the spirits of children, families and communities broken by violence, addiction, poverty, mental illness, racism and other serious societal problems.
